LADIES' BAZAAR.

The party who took my hat from Odd Fellows' hall on the night of the 24th is known to me. Trouble may be avoided if the same is returned. The one left in its stead can be had by calling on Carlos Borques.

The Christmas ball given by Rescue Lodge, No. 12, I. O. O. F., on Monday night, at Odd Fellows hall, was one of the principal events of the holiday season. There was a merry throng and dancing continued till a late hour.

The item in last week's Belt announcing a ball to be given January 12, by the fire company, was a mistake. It is the band that will give a party. It will be a masquerade, and the date has been changed to Saturday, January 13.

W. O. KELLNER,
Postmaster.

The discussion as to when the twentieth century will begin has reached Globe, and is at white heat. The debate has been in progress all week at the post-office store, with Mr. Lady as judge, but as yet he has not rendered his decision. We will endeavor to elucidate the vexed question: A period of one hundred years constitutes a century. The first century ended at midnight, December 31, 100 A. D. The second century began January 1, 101, and so on through all the succeeding centuries. It is a rule in all chronology that a year or period of time is not numbered until it has expired. Hence the nineteenth century will not be completed until the expiration of the year 1900, and the twentieth century will begin January 1, 1901.

Installation of Officers.

At the annual communication of White Mountain lodge, No. 3, F. & A. M., held in their hall Dec. 27, 1899, St. John's day, the following members were installed as officers for the year 1900, by James H. Pascoe.

Joseph B. Henry, W. M.; Robert C. Sloan, S. W.; Harold L. Coombs, J. W.; J. W. Ranson, treasurer; A. H. Morehead, secretary; Benj. E. Gray, S. D.; Thos. A. Pascoe, J. D.; Wm. Grevelle, Tyler; Edward Weck, S. Steward; W. H. Hender, J. Steward; Rev. E. O. McIntire, chaplain.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies the members repaired to the banqueting room and regaled themselves by frequent draughts of hot coffee and other hot stuff to good to speak about. At this time an informal vote was had upon the question of whether after 12 o'clock Sunday night next we would be living in the 19th or 20th century. The result of the vote was quite satisfactory, as it was unanimously decided at 11:30 p. m. that we were then living in the 20th century—the vote subject to correction on Dec. 27, 1900—Bro. Lady being absent.

Death of A. J. Arana.

We regret to record the death of Adolph J. Arana, which occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Ward, on Friday evening, December 22, from epilepsy, followed by a general collapse of the vital forces.

Deceased was a native of Sonora, Tuolumne county, California, and was forty-five years of age. He was numbered among the old-timers of Globe, having come here on May 5, 1879, and for eighteen years thereafter he was a valued employee of the ARIZONA SILVER BELT, and the proprietor of this paper, together with others of his friends, sincerely regrets his death. He was a first-class compositor, an intelligent man and a generous and faithful friend.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ward were especially kind to the deceased, having befriended him in many ways, and during his last illness took care of him and gave him every attention.

The funeral took place last Sunday afternoon from the Catholic church, and was attended by many of the old friends and acquaintances of the deceased. Rev. J. O. Barrette officiated at the church and grave, and every service for the dead was performed. A. J. Arana will be kindly remembered, and by none more than by the editor of the Belt.

The mother of the deceased, Mrs. Inez Medina, resides at Winnemucca, Nevada, with her three daughters, one of whom, Miss Lucy B. Medina, is kindly remembered here, having visited Globe several years ago.

Beheaded by a Train.

A Mexican named Mateo Rameriez, for some time in the employ of the G. V. G. & N. railroad as a section hand, was run over near the stock yards last Friday night by the incoming train and instantly killed. The head was entirely severed from the body and lay just outside the left hand rail, while the body, considerably mutilated about the shoulders, lay between the rails.

The man was seen by the night watchman at about 11:30 p. m., going toward his camp, just opposite the stock yards, in a state of intoxication. The supposition is that he either fell down and went to sleep with his head between the rails, or more likely attempted to board the train as it came along and was thrown under the cars. Justice Whalley, as ex-officio coronor, was called and after empaneling a jury had the remains removed to the morgue. The inquest was held the next morning and after taking testimony the jury rendered a verdict of accidental death through the negligence of the deceased, due to intoxication. The deceased had a wife and seven children at Wilcox.

A Fine Christmas Display.

Among the many holiday displays made by our enterprising business houses, there is none that elicits so much favorable comment as that made by Wm. Sidow, of the Pioneer market, and certainly nothing approaching it has ever been seen in Globe, and it is doubtful if it is equaled in Arizona.

Sixteen beavers, together with prime mutton and porkers, all rolling fat, and beautifully dressed, completely hide the walls. The decorations are unique and pleasing. Excellent portraits of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Admirals Dewey and Schley, and Lieutenant Hobson, are carved on the sides of the beef, and there are many decorations done in hard—a dairy scene, a shield bearing the stars and stripes and the proprietor's name in gold letters, an anchor, and other pieces, too numerous to mention. There is sameness of every conceivable kind, made into various forms representing animals, and a fasten of bologna two feet long. Evergreen and tinsel adornments complete a most attractive display.

The decorations were made by W. C. Beck, formerly of Los Angeles, assisted by Archie Borquez and James Riley. The carving of the portraits and the artistic lard work was all done by Mr. Beck, and he has certainly evinced a remarkable skill. The display must be seen to be fully appreciated.
